Conversation with Arnold [redacted]

1. Frank asked for 3 model RE-1 commercial microfilmers on rental basis and to include readers.
2. On strength of Frank's verbal request Arnold ordered same from N.Y. since none were to be had in D.C.
3. One was shipped from N.Y. on 8 Jan. with others to follow shortly. Arnold expects the first to be in his place on 13 or 15 Jan. with delivery to us in about one week. We may have it by 22 Jan.
4. No formal order has been placed by CTH.

Conversation with Neuse [redacted]

1. Frank did not commit himself for any equipment. [redacted]
2. We must have a DO for anything we want. The DO however will only ensure delivery but will not speed it up.

3. [redacted] wants cameras similar to Model 90-01 but with grant delivery, it is doubtful if he can get them. [redacted] has discontinued the old model. If he wants a top-grant delivery Duplex, they have of course Model 90-03.
4. Delivery is taking upwards of 60 days or more, depending. Processors are immediate delivery.
5. He must have an order and a DO before he can do anything

6.  has excellent new reader to cost about $800, but sounds very good. It can be loaded without standing up & loading is much simplified, light much more intense, image can be rotated by control on panel without moving old cumbersome head, etc.

7. I am expecting to see  on 17 Jun. at 2 PM. He is a bit confused because of Frank's quick withdrawal.
